Since the emergence of this country/bluegrass band from Waterford in August, 1988 it has gained a steady loyal following of fans throughout all the top venues in Ireland through constant gigging and hard work. Founder members Gerry O'Regan and Jessie Lonergan have committed themselves to a slow steady build up for The Lonesome Hobos as opposed to the hype machine which has all too often ruined so many good bands. The emphasis from The Lonesome Hobos is on good quality country music and this has proved a tremendous success to date. The band's first E.P. is due for release in February which will feature two very worthwhile original songs from O'Regan and Lonergan. The Lonesome Hobos line up as follows: Gerry O'Regan (guitar, lead guitar and vocals), Jesse Lonergan (lead vocals, banjo and guitar), the Bandit McLoughlin (guitar, vocals), Mick Dower (bass), Ches Power (drums) and Kilkenny's Anthony McCauley on fiddle. The live set is excellent with good quality ass kickin country rock and some tremendous bluegrass numbers. Catch the band at the Speakeasy on Thursday, December 27.
