TWENTY ONE

The Cranberries Newsletter, issue 1, June 1995

Hello!

Welcome to the first issue of 'Twenty One', a newsletter for fans of The Cranberries. In this issue, among other things there is a Discography, a review of the video and information about available merchandise.

As this is the first issue and at the moment we have very few readers and contributors, I have had to put the newsletter together using information I already had about the band. I really need to hear from you; please send in any information, features, pictures, reviews, artwork, etc. that you think will interest other fans. I would also appreciate your suggestions/comments about the newsletter.

I hope to publish 'Twenty One' quarterly but of course this depends on the amount of interest in the newsletter and the information available to me at the time.

I hope you enjoy reading this issue...

The Platinum album "No Need To Argue" is doing very well at the moment and is currently enjoying it's 37th week in the UK top 40 album chart. It reached as high as number two in it's first week of release. The last two singles to be taken from this album have not done as well as those taken from the first album. "I Can't Be With You" CD (released in March) came in a two part CD box set. The first part contained two extra tracks; "Empty" (a Radio One evening session recording from September 1994) and a very good cover of The Carpenter's "Close To You". The second disc had a live version of "Daffodil Lament" (recorded at Feile, Tipperary in July 1994) and an acoustic version of "Zombie" (from MTV Europe). This single was very well packaged with yet more photos of that chair! The highest chart position was 28 and it spent three weeks in the chart.

"Ode To My Family" entered the top 40 at no. 38 in December 1994. The extra tracks were "So Cold In Ireland", "No Need To Argue" and "Dreaming My Dreams". The second CD for the box set had tracks "Ode To My Family (Live)", "Dreams" (Live), "Ridiculous Thoughts" (Live) and "Zombie (Live)".

'Zombie' did well in October 1994 (highest chart position: No. 13). The first CD contained "Zombie", "Away" and "I Don't Need". The second CD contained "Zombie" (Full length album version), "Waltzing Back" (Live) and "Linger" (Live). Both live tracks on this disc are acoustic and were recorded live at the Fleadh Festival on the 11th June 1994.

If you had wanted to see The Cranberries live on their last tour but it was cancelled because of Dolores' knee problems, they are doing a few stadium dates this summer. For dates and venues, see back page.

A review of this video is over the page.

THE CRANBERRIES MUSIC BOOK

The music for the Album "Everybody Else Is Doing It, So Why Can't We" is available (on import from America) for piano/vocal/guitar. This is priced at around £12.95 and can be bought at large branches of Our Price and HMV as well as musical shops. It contains all the tracks from the album.

Published by Polygram Music Publishing Group and distributed by Hal Leonard. ISBN 0-7935-3143-8. Hal Leonard say they are in the process of publishing a UK version of this title. The book for "No Need To Argue" may also be available on import, although I have not seen it anywhere. Both titles can be ordered from MUSIC DISPATCH in America but this could prove to be an expensive way of buying them. "No Need To Argue" is priced at $14.95 and airmail charges would be about $19.00. The address for orders and enquiries is: MUSIC DISPATCH, PO Box 13920, Milwaukee, WI 53213, USA.

T-SHIRTS

Official T-shirts are currently available from large HMV and Our Price stores, and are priced around £11.99. One is of the "No Need To Argue" cover with a back print. The other has a reddish-brown picture of the band, and the logo in pink. The back print is "Everybody Else Is Doing It So Why Can't We". They are both short-sleeved and black.

A review of the video

If you've never noticed how small Dolores O'Riordan is, you will in this video, and if you've never seen her smile, well, prepare to be shocked!

In this collection of 15 tracks, taken from both the debut and the second album, the band begin with a silent version of "Pretty". She gets the crowd started off with "Linger", willing them to join in the chorus, and she begins prancing up and down with a rather tune-adapting, or rather voice-adapting version of "Ridiculous Thoughts".

Dolores really gets the crowd up with the lively "Dreams". Then Fergal gets the chance to let his hair down and so do the camera men in "Zombie". I now find it easier to understand why Fergal got his hair cut!

Following a couple of B-sides, Dolores and the boys wind up with "Still Can't...", where she shows off her dancing skills (Yet again!).

This video is proof that The Cranberries are certainly a very original band!

Birmingham NEC Arena (July 25), Manchester G-Mex Centre (July 28) and London Wembley Arena (July 31).

Ticket prices range from between £14.00 and £17.50 with a booking fee of around £2.00. Dodgy are supporting the band at all the dates.

The cranberries are on MTV unplugged on Sunday 2nd July. This is repeated on Monday 10th July. Dolores is also on Wogan's Island on Wednesday 12th July, at 7:30 on BBC1.

LAST WORD

Well, I hope you've enjoyed the first issue of "Twenty One", and I look forward to producing another, hopefully with your input.

If I get enough interest, the next issue should be out sometime in the autumn.

Everybody else is smiling,
so why can't she!!

TWENTY ONE

Hello, and thank you for your enquiry about the newsletter.

The enclosed copy is a kind of introductory issue, which I put together using any information I already had about the band. The first proper issue will be out in the early Autumn. I aim to produce a newsletter quarterly but this depends on the amount of interest and input from fans.

I would be very grateful for any contributions to the newsletter; features, articles, reviews, artwork or anything that you think will interest other fans. If you enclose an S.A.E. with your contribution we will return it.

I would welcome your opinions and suggestions about Twenty One.

If you would like to receive the next issue, please send an S.A.E. to the address below.

Thank you for your interest.
