IRELAND'S FIRST MONTHLY INTERACTIVE MAGAZINE ON CD ROM

EXPLORING ENTER

ENTER is the most exciting and innovative experience in entertainment news and reviews! In a "virtual" city you'll watch and listen to live interviews with celebrities and even control the action. Enjoy making your way through this fascinating world of artist profiles, interactive features and exclusive recordings.

GETTING STARTED

WINDOWS 95 or better / NT • Be sure to close all programmes except Internet Explorer or Netscape Navigator. • Ensure that your computer is set to the maximum colour setting.

• Insert ENTER into your CD-ROM drive. • First time users should make sure they install QuickTime 4.

MACINTOSH • Be sure to close all programmes except Internet Explorer or Netscape Navigator. • Ensure that your computer is set to the maximum screen resolution. • Install QuickTime 4. • Click on the ENTER icon to start programme.

TROUBLESHOOTING • On the Mac and PC you need 16MB of RAM available for ENTER to work properly. Turn off virtual memory in the memory control panel (MAC). Turn off AppleTalk (MAC). Do not have any other applications running. If you are having any problems with your disk please phone us on (01) 491 1730 for a replacement.

Patrick McDonnell

Patrick McDonnell has been standing up and making people laugh since 1996 when he appeared as a novice at the Kilkenny Cats Laugh Comedy Festival. He later went on to appear in the final of Ch 4's 'So You Think You're Funny?' competition in Edinburgh. Since then he has returned to both festivals, appeared in a film synchronised with his act (the very scary Prodigy) and continues to impress audiences in Britain and Ireland with his unique brand of outraged nonsense.

"Splendidly original and a bit bizarre, he is the business"
-The Sunday Times

"McDonnell's stand up routine is a delight, a cynical, angry but a set which never loses its comic edge"
-The Scotsman

He has appeared in a number of short films, including Solon, Swap and Stephanie Knows Who and the feature film Separation Anxiety. His television appearances include The Candidate from
