

October 30th 2001

Hello ,

Here's a few more answers to your questions! For older answers use the archive above!

Q. You used primarily live songs as bonus tracks for WAKE UP AND SMELL THE COFFEE, are you reserving songs you already wrote for the next album?

A. NO, we usually use the extra songs for b-sides. Or if a song suited, we might put it in a video.

Q. I know you guys (and Lady Dolores) did an unplugged session on MTV a few years ago, can we expect such a gig in the future, maybe on CD? Or are you planning a Best of Crans CD maybe?

A. We used to do a little acoustic or "unplugged" set during our live show and we were considering re-introducing it to the tour next year. Good idea??

Q. You said previously that you recorded two songs during the recording of "Wake Up" that had actually been written long before, but never used. Which two songs were they and when were they written? Some people have been guessing that one of them is "Chocolate Brown"..?

A. The first is "Dying Inside" which was written on the tour for "No Need To Argue" in 1994. We tried recording it on the "TTFD" session and on the "BTH" session but, we never quite captured it, until now. The other song is "Do You Know". This was written the first week we returned to rehearsals after our year-long hiatus. We unfortunately had forgotten about it until the "WUASTC" session.

NEXT PAGE