

Hey all of you out there on planet spring-time!

Dolores, here in the studio in Kilmallock. It's sooo good to have the spring time!

We begin rehearsals on Monday next week and I'm really excited 'cos I'm getting bored which is a good thing to do sometimes. There's loads of inspiration in the air at the moment, a really positive feeling about the future; it's bright!

Today I went picking daisies with my kids and made chains, something I haven't done since I was a kid so I'm really chilled out.

I spoke to Noel at 10.30 last night, he's in great form, his little girl is really great now. He's really looking forward to getting back . The Stones dates should be a right laugh, especially the one with AC/DC in between.

I did an interview with an American radio station today and it felt weird after such a long break.

I had a bash at Ferg's drum kit just a few minutes ago. It's a great release playing drums, no wonder Ferg is always so mellow.

What else...my hair's growing long, kinda hippy 70's ish.

Well, gotta go now!

Be strong, eat loadsa garlic!

Lots of love,

Dolores xx
